

institution's athletic program is supported by a board of trustees that has a majority of members who are not affiliated with the institution. The board of trustees is responsible for the overall management of the institution and its affairs, including the athletic program.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the institution, who is the chief executive officer and has the ultimate authority over the institution's operations.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.

The board of trustees is also responsible for the selection and appointment of the president of the athletic department, who is the chief executive officer of the athletic program and reports to the president of the institution.